Pikwàkanagàn Gathers to Remember Those Who Served

The Algonquins of Pikwàkanagàn First Nation (AOPFN) veterans, community members, and guests gathered on November 11 to commemorate Remembrance Day, honouring the courage, service, and sacrifices of the men and women who have served in times of war, conflict, and peacekeeping.

The ceremony provided an opportunity for the community to come together in reflection, pay tribute to those who made the ultimate sacrifice, recognize the contributions of veterans, and remember the lasting impact of military service on families, communities, and generations.

For First Nations, Remembrance Day holds a particularly deep and meaningful significance. Throughout history, first nations men and women volunteered to serve in conflicts around the world, often despite facing discrimination and injustice in their own communities at home. They answered the call to serve with courage, honour, and a commitment to protecting others.

In his Remembrance Day address, Chief Greg Sarazin reflected on the important contributions of First Nations veterans and the responsibility to ensure their stories remain part of the Nation's history.

"Today, we gather in remembrance to honour the courage, sacrifice, and strength of all those who have served and continue to serve during times of war, conflict, and peacekeeping. As we come together as a community, we pause to remember those who made the ultimate sacrifice, recognize our veterans, and reflect on the courage and commitment of those who have answered the call to serve," said Chief Greg Sarazin.

The ceremony also acknowledged the families who remained at home while their loved ones served. Behind every veteran and fallen soldier are families who experienced uncertainty, worry, grief, and hope.

As wreaths were laid and a moment of silence observed, those gathered were reminded that remembrance extends beyond honouring those who lost their lives.

The ceremony concluded with a feast at the Makwa Community Centre and a renewed commitment to honouring those who served and ensuring their courage and contributions are never forgotten. Check out more by visiting Algonquins of Pikwàkanagàn First Nation on Facebook.

Community Update #6
Regarding the Near Surface Disposal Facililty (NSDF) in Chalk River
Appeal #1 - CNL vs KFN

Background:

- The NSDF project was proposed in 2016 and AOPFN started engagement in 2019 with CNL & AECL.
  - The NSDF is a radioactive waste disposal facility for low-level waste (LLW), proposed to be built at Chalk River Laboratories (CRL) in AOPFN's Traditional (Title) Territory. This LLW facility would be used to dispose of legacy waste and new waste generated at the CRL site.
- May 2023 - as part of AOPFN's Long-Term Relationship Agreement (LTRA) with CNL & AECL, AOPFN consented for the NSDF to be built.
- Jan 2024 - the CNSC authorized the construction of the NSDF, construction was to start in Fall 2024.
- Jan 2024 - KFN filed a judicial review against CNSC's decision to approve construction of the NSDF. KFN's argument was that they were not properly consulted. The NSDF project was put 'on hold'.
- Summer 2024 – Federal Court hearing was held for KFN's judicial review.
- Feb 2025 - Justice Blackhawk found that the CNSC had erred in not considering FPIC and UNDRIP in its decision and ordered further consultation with KFN, prior to CNSC revisiting its decision and to be completed by Sept 2026.
- Mar 2025 - KFN and CNL both filed appeals against the Justice Blackhawk's decision
- Oct 2025 - KFN and CNL presented their cases in the Federal Court of Appeal and AOPFN intervened not against KFN, but to help the court better understand United Nations Declaration on the Rights of Indigenous Peoples (UNDRIP), Free, Prior and Informed Consent (FPIC).
- Late Sept 2026 – KFN announced that they are suspending consultations on the proposed NSDF, because the CNSC and CNL "failed to meet critical commitments."
- Oct 2026 – Federal Court of Appeal announced their decision.

Recent Court Decision:

- On October 16, 2026, the Federal Court of Appeal (FCA) released its decision in CNL vs KFN.
- The FCA granted CNL's appeal and Kebaowek's cross-appeal was dismissed. The FCA substituted its decision for the lower court's decision, and dismissed Kebaowek's original judicial review. This means that the CNSC's original decision to approve the NSDF was reinstated.
- Based on this decision, the CNSC cancelled the NSDF hearing scheduled in Spring 2027.
- NOTE: CNL does still require their Species at Risk Act (SARA) permit to be reissued by Environment and Climate Change Canada (ECCC) before any construction can start.

Impact to AOPFN:

- Although the lower court judge made important rulings about how UNDRIP and FPIC should influence Canadian law and the duty to consult and accommodate, the FCA reversed the lower court's decision.
- The FCA ruling says that CNSC is not able to implement UNDRIP or FPIC, and that NSDF can proceed without First Nation consent.
- AOPFN strongly disagrees with the FCA's decision and will continue enforcing our right to consent to decisions that affect our Territory.
- Please note that this decision does not impact the LTRA that currently stands between AOPFN, CNL and AECL. Even with the FCA's recent decision, AOPFN still has the ability to hold CNL and AECL to all prior obligations.

Next Steps:

- The Consultation Dept will continue to track whether KFN appeals its case to the Supreme Court of Canada or not, and will also provide ongoing updates to both Chief & Council and Membership, as any other new information on the NSDF becomes available.
- AOPFN's dedication to advocating for the responsible management of existing radioactive waste at Chalk River Laboratories (CRL) will remain unwavering.
- AOPFN remains committed to transparency, collaboration and the protection of our lands and waters, and we realize that it will be crucial to maintain community support and foster positive relationships with other First Nations.
- The Consultation Dept will continue to work with all parties to explore alternative solutions that prioritize the safety of our environment and community.

For more information on this decision, please contact the AOPFN Consultation Department at pmgr4.consultation@pikwakanagan.ca

Algonquins of Pikwakanagan First Nation

Increase in Gastrointestinal Cases

To: Algonquins of Pikwàkanagàn First Nation

From: Jessica Schwan, RN, Community Health Nurse

Date: November 6, 2026

Algonquins of Pikwàkanagàn First Nation and the surrounding community are seeing an increase in gastrointestinal illness. Gastrointestinal illness can include nausea, vomiting, diarrhea, abdominal pain, and fever.

If you are ill with gastrointestinal symptoms, please stay at home and remain at home until 48 hours after symptoms have stopped.

How Can I Protect Myself and My Family?

- Wash your hands with soap and water frequently and after contact with bodily fluids. Alcohol-based hand rub is less effective than soap/water for gastrointestinal viruses
- Stay hydrated to avoid dehydration. Continue to drink water and consider oral rehydration (Pedialyte).

Where Can I Find More Information?

The CHN and the Family Health Team are available to answer your questions.

For more information on when to treat yourself or your child at home or when to seek care when sick, please see CHEO's Find the Right Care factsheet. As always, if you are concerned about your or your child's condition, going to the hospital is ALWAYS the right answer.
