Dear Members of Pikwakanagan,

This week, I thought I would write about HOPE. Much like when I wrote about JOY in Letter No. 8 on May 29, it is important once again to reflect on a positive perspective and outcome in challenging times. The reopening of the economy and the ability to gather once again in moderate groups at a social distance and in our social “bubbles” has brought hope to our summer season. I have been thinking a lot about how to capture this hopeful energy and turn it into a vision and a plan for Pikwakanagan; this is important whether we face another wave of COVID19, another challenge or peaceful times ahead.

Unfortunately, it is far too easy to lose hope when we are faced with challenges. The chronic challenges we face as a community such as drug addiction, food and water insecurity, poverty and other traumas of colonization do not have easy solutions; much of what we are able to do with limited resources are just temporary, band-aid solutions. However, there are times when we do have the opportunity to make true and transformative change and inspire hope for the present and the future. When we are able to identify these opportunities and use the hope and joy as a foundation, it can have a ripple or a snowball effect. It is my feeling that we cannot be locked into a victim mentality or paralyzed by limited resources; we truly have abundance and resilience.

Please share with me, other members of Council and the community what gives you hope. What has changed about your perspective during COVID19? How do you plan to maintain your hope and joy? What can we all do to build these positive thoughts and actions as a community?

Wendy Jocko, Chief

Algonquins of Pikwàkanagan

DIABETES AND STAYING WELL DURING A HEAT WAVE

The summer is in full force and the beautiful weather is calling us all outside to enjoy it. Managing a heat wave with diabetes can however pose some problems such as dehydration and heat exhaustion. Sweating is a way our bodies cool down. Many people living with diabetes have some degree of nerve damage. This nerve damage can affect the activity of the sweat glands. This makes it harder for the body to regulate its temperature which can make it harder for the body to cool down. In this part of our world, we experience humidity as well. High humidity plus the heat will affect our ability to stay cool even more. Because of this humidity, our sweat does not evaporate quickly to create that cooling effect. Our bodies lose water from sweating but our body temperature continues to rise. Humidex is a measure that combines heat and humidity. If humidex is at or above 40, outdoor physical activity should be avoided for safety reasons.

Our bodies are made up of roughly 2/3 water, so it's very important to stay hydrated, especially during these warm summer days. Water is the ideal drink for diabetics to stay hydrated. It is best to avoid sports drinks as they are usually loaded with sugar, and alcoholic beverages will cause further fluid loss leading to possible dehydration because alcohol is a diuretic.

Dehydration can lead to heat exhaustion if not taken care of right away. Symptoms of heat exhaustion are:

- Light-headedness
- Dizziness
- Headache
- Muscle cramps
- Rapid heart beat
- Nausea/vomiting

Recognizing these symptoms when they occur is very important as treatment measures include stopping the activity, moving into a cooler environment, and hydrating yourself with water or a sugar-free drink.

Heat doesn't affect our blood sugar directly but it can lead to changes in our daily habits. Eating a little less and exerting a little more when the nice weather hits without medication adjustments can lead to hypoglycemic episodes. Whereas drinking sugary drinks and being less active can lead to hyperglycemic episodes. Getting a sunburn is an added body stressor that can also raise blood sugar levels.

A change in footwear can be a concern as well as more people are strapping on their sandals and flip flops. Daily foot care is important any time of year to keep our feet healthy and free from any kind of infection or injury.

Please contact Natalie, the Diabetic Care Navigator if you have any questions or concerns regarding your diabetic health.

BEAR SIGHTINGS

If bears become a threat please call BEAR WISE at 1-866-514-2327

The Ministry of Natural Resources will not bring traps for bears if there is food available that attracts them.

Intentionally feeding bears or allowing them to find anything that smells or tastes like food teaches bears to approach homes and people looking for more. Bears will defend themselves if a person gets too close, so don't risk your safety and theirs!

Secure Food, Garbage And Recycling

Food and food odors attract bears, so don't reward them with easily available food, liquids or garbage

Remove Bird Feeders When Bears Are Active

Birdseed and grains have lots of calories, so they're very attractive to bears. Removing feeders is the best way to avoid creating conflicts with bears.

Never Leave Pet Food Outdoors

Feed pets indoors when possible. If you must feed pets outside, feed in single portions and remove food and bowls after feeding. Store pet food where bears can't see or smell it.

Clean & Store Grills

Clean grills after each use and make sure that all grease, fat and food particles are removed. Store clean grills and smokers in a secure area that keeps bears out.

Alert Neighbors To Bear Activity

See bears in the area or evidence of bear activity? Tell your neighbors and share info on how to avoid bear conflicts.

Bears have adapted to living near people; now it's up to us to adapt to living near bears.

If you encounter a bear...

...In A Building, By A Dumpster, Or Around The Corner

- Give the bear a clear escape route (do not corner it).
- Leave any doors open as you back away from the bear.
- Do not lock the bear in a room.

...In Your Backyard

- From a safe distance, make loud noises, shout, or bang pots and pans together to scare away the bear.
- When the bear leaves, remove potential attractants such as garbage, bird seed, or pet food.
- Ask neighbors to remove attractants.
- Check your yard for bears before letting out your dog.

...In The Woods

- If you see a bear before it notices you: stand still, don't approach and enjoy the moment. Then move away quietly in the opposite direction.
- If you encounter a bear that's aware of you: don't run; running may trigger a chase response. Back away slowly in the opposite direction and wait for the bear to leave.

If a black bear becomes aggressive and...

...Approaches You

- Stand your ground.
- Back away only when the bear stops its approach.
- Make yourself look bigger by raising your arms and jacket, and/or standing on a rock or stump.
- Yell "Hey bear" loudly.
- Get your bear spray out of the holster and into your hand. Remove the safety latch.

...Follows You

- Stand your ground.
- Try to appear large by holding up your arms and jacket, and/or standing on a rock or stump.
- Back away only when the bear stops its approach.
- Intimidate the black bear by making yourself look bigger and making noise (wave arms, shout, clap, bang stick).
- Stay together.

...Continues To Follow You

- Stand your ground and stay together.
- Intimidate the black bear by making yourself look bigger and making noise (wave arms, shout, clap, bang stick).
- Prepare to fight or use bear spray.

...Charges You

- Stand your ground.
- Remain calm.
- If you have bear spray, spray it directly at the bear.

...Makes Contact With You

- FIGHT BACK with anything at hand (knife, sticks, rocks, binoculars, backpack or by kicking).
- DO NOT play dead.

Take Special Precautions To Avoid Bears when hiking, walking with your dog, camping or fishing in bear country
