Ottawa Public Library – Library and Archives Canada Joint Facility named Ādisōke by Anishinābe Algonquin Nation

At an event on August 5, 2021 the official name was announced for the Ottawa Public Library – Library and Archives Joint Facility. Anishinābe Algonquin Nation, Kitigan Zibi Anishinabeg and the Algonquins of Pikwakanagan First Nation gave the name Ādisōke for the facility. On hand to honour the name of the new facility were Mayor Jim Watson, the Honourable Steven Guilbeault, Minister of Canadian Heritage, the Honourable Catherine McKenna, Minister of Infrastructure and Communities and MP for Ottawa Centre, and Councillor Matthew Luloff, Chair of the Ottawa Public Library Board.

Ādisōke is an Anishinābemowin word that refers to the telling of stories. Storytelling is the traditional means by which Indigenous Peoples share knowledge, culture and history over generations. Ādisōke is a meaningful and fitting name for the joint facility, as storytelling represents the coming together of knowledge, history, discovery, culture, creativity, collaboration, and connections. Ādisōke also evokes what is at the heart of the partner institutions: Library and Archives Canada as a keeper of Canadian and Indigenous stories, and Ottawa Public Library's use of stories to build community and transform lives, inspiring learning, sparking curiosity, and connecting people.

The site for the joint facility is located on the unceded, traditional territory of the Anishinābe Algonquin Nation, who have lived in the area since time immemorial. Elders and Members of the Anishinābe Algonquin Nation are important partners in influencing the design of the facility and the selection of the name Ādisōke.

As collaboration with the Algonquin Nation continues, other rooms in Ādisōke will be given Anishinābe Algonquin names, such as the Children's Discovery Centre, a Wigwam-inspired Circular Lodge and its adjacent exterior terrace, and the Outdoor Gathering Circle. The project team will also continue to engage with the Anishinābe Algonquin Nation and other First Nations, Inuit and Metis individuals and organizations to inform the programs and services that will be offered in Ādisōke.

AOPFN Members that participated in the Unveiling of the Name Ceremony were: Della Meness, Education Manager, Councillor Merv Sarazin, Kevin Lamarr, AOPFN Cultural Coordinator, Elder Irvin Sarazin, and Sylvia Tennesco and William Dick, Ādisōke committee members.

In Loving Memory of Late Lila Amikons (Commanda)

We want to thank the community's PSWs, Home Care and Health workers for assisting our Mom while she was at home. Thank you to everyone who was there for our family in our time of sorrow. Your kindness and thoughtfulness has helped us make it through this difficult time.

The cards and flowers were beautiful and greatly appreciated, Mom loved nature. Thank you for the donations and food for the cooks who made sure we had enough food and drinks for everyone.

Our Mom would be smiling.

TYPE 2 DIABETES IN CHILDREN: WE CAN REDUCE THE RISK!!

The saying 'diabetes runs in families' is mostly true. Well, we can't change the genes we inherit, but the other big reason why diabetes runs in families is that we learn eating and exercising habits from our families. These habits can be changed.

People living in the same household tend to eat similar foods and are either active or inactive together. Children learn from those around them. They see what you eat and how much you exercise. Learning to eat healthfully and exercise regularly will reduce their risk of getting type 2 diabetes even if it does run in the family.

Small steps to create healthy changes for the whole family

Stop buying pop and fruit juices: Both are loaded with sugar. These types of drinks should only be drunk as an occasional treat. Water is life, water is sacred, offer it regularly. Kids will learn to drink water when they're thirsty.

Eat together: As much as possible, eat meals together with your family. There is so much benefit for the family unit when we sit together for well balanced meals at regular times.

Cook with your kids: This can start at an early age. Teach them to set the table and wash the dishes as well. This teaches them that food and meals are to be enjoyed and appreciated.

Limit screen time: This is a tough one but so beneficial. Once cellphones, computers, and TVs are turned off, it gives more time for everyone to get out for a walk, a bike ride, or just to play and learn together.
