New Cultural Centre and Museum on the Horizon

Spring 2021, Omàmiwinini Pimàdjowin packed up and relocated its staff and Gift Shop to the Retail Business Centre in Pìkwàkanagàn on Kokomis Inamo. This decision came at the recommendation of the new Operations Manager, Naomi Sarazin, who started with the organization in the fall of 2020. Between 2020-2021, Omàmiwinini Pimàdjowin was impacted by COVID-19, like all other organizations across the world. Being forced to distant from working in the Cultural Centre and Museum during this time, allowed for our four-legged and winged relations to take up space. This has placed our people and treasures at risk, and so immediate action was needed. Naomi met with her team and the Board of Directors to determine a plan of action. Here are the action items that we have either completed or are in the process of completing:

Action #1: Relocate staff and Gift Shop (completed)

Action #2: Prepare artifacts and collections for storage (in-progress)

Action #3: Commence major capital building project planning (to begin this winter)

In October 2021, Elizabeth Hale, was hired as an independent consultant to take on the role of preparing our artifacts and collections for storage. Elizabeth brings a wealth of expertise to this role, as a current Professor in Algonquin College's Applied Museum Studies Program, former Manager of an Archive and Collections Project with Canada Games Council, and former Senior Exhibitions Manager at the National Gallery of Canada. She is supervising a team of four (4) Algonquin College Museum Studies Program students to support this important work of cataloguing, photographing, and packing our Manidò Chìman Collections. We would like to say a kichi-migwech (big thank you) to Elizabeth and her team: Danielle Valade, Clare Brebner, Madeleine Anderson, and Jessica Nagy.

Exhibit dismantle - Elizabeth Hale

Photography – Madeleine Anderson

Packing – Danielle Valade

Cataloguing – Clare Brebner

Elizabeth and her team will be working until mid-December to take down the Manidò Chìman exhibition displays, facilitate low temperature treatment of artifacts, verify catalogue information with current records, catalogue any artifacts without records, and pack all the artifacts for storage. Omàmiwinini Pimàdjowin is committed to working with the Algonquins of Pikwakanagan First Nation to find a safe and temporary home for the community's artifacts and collections, until such time that we have a new Cultural Centre and Museum.

Building a new Cultural Centre and Museum has been a community dream for more than 20 years. We are happy to share that realizing this dream is on the horizon. Omàmiwinini Pimàdjowin will be working alongside an architect to complete a Prefeasibility Study. In the next 6 months we will be carrying out community engagement sessions whereby we will be looking forward to community input into dreaming up the new home for our ancestral gifts and a place where we can gather to preserve, revitalize, and restore our Algonquin Anishinàbeg culture, traditions, practices, arts, and language.

If you are interested in participating in an upcoming community engagement session, please contact Naomi Sarazin at nsarazin@thealgonquinway.ca or phone 613-625-1958.

The poster has a light blue background. At the top and bottom are decorative borders featuring dark teal triangles and stylized evergreen trees, with small white snowflakes interspersed. In the center, there is a large, faint, circular graphic containing a silhouette of a person's head and shoulders, possibly a traditional Indigenous headdress or a person in traditional dress. Overlaid on this graphic is the text "Winter Solstice Feast" in a large, stylized, teal-colored font with a slight shadow effect.

Call for Participation AOPFN Advisory Committee

To all AOPFN members,

AOPFN has benefited from the support and valuable input of a dozen community members who have shared their input, ideas, and guidance related to projects occurring within the AOPFN territory. Known as the AOPFN Advisory Committee (AAC), this group has made an important contribution to Consultation activities, and we see this as a vital ongoing standing committee for Pikwakanagan.

The Consultation office greatly appreciates the AAC, and you should know that there is plenty of space to add to the committee membership. The committee meets once or twice each month and the meetings usually last 2 hours as materials are presented, discussed, and input collected from the committee members.

If you are interested in providing your input to proponents related to projects occurring in our territory, then please contact Lucas Bramberger (AOPFN Project Coordinator) at:

coordinator.projects@pikwakanagan.ca
