Chi-Miigwech

The Sports & Recreation Department of the Algonquins of Pikwakanagan First Nation received an Ontario Trillium Fund grant to renovate the kitchen at the Community Centre. Renovations took place over the spring of 2023 and were finalized mid-summer. We extend a huge thanks to the Ontario Trillium Fund for this incredible opportunity and much needed renovation to our kitchen facility at our Community Centre. This renovation will allow us to ensure proper amenities and safe and efficient appliances as we move toward more community gatherings and functions together.

Chi-Miigwech Ontario Trillium Fund, we appreciate you!

Chronic Wasting Disease and traditional foods

Traditional food has significant nutritional, social, cultural and spiritual value, and is an important part of food security for Indigenous peoples. Indigenous knowledge and dietary studies show that eating traditional foods, even in small amounts, provides important nutritional benefits.

Traditional foods influence much more than health. They are closely linked to culture, identity, way of life, and overall health and well-being.

If you hunt, handle, or eat traditional foods like deer, elk, caribou, or moose, it is important to know about chronic wasting disease.

What is chronic wasting disease?

Chronic wasting disease (CWD) is a disease of the brain and nervous system that affects white-tailed deer, mule deer, moose, elk, red deer, and reindeer.

CWD belongs to the family of diseases known as transmissible spongiform encephalopathies (TSEs). While it shares features with similar diseases that affect cattle and sheep, CWD is only known at this time to naturally affect members of the deer (cervid) family. CWD is fatal to these animals.

Is CWD a risk to human health?

There are no known cases of human CWD. However, as a precaution, it is recommended that any part of a known CWD-infected animal not be used or consumed by humans.

Myth: People should not eat deer, elk, caribou or moose meat because of chronic wasting disease.

Fact: Deer, elk, caribou and moose meat is safe to eat and most body parts are safe to use. However, do not handle or eat any part of an animal that looks sick, has died from unknown causes, or has tested positive for CWD.

Always use care in handling the carcass of any animal.

What are the signs of CWD in animals?

Animals with CWD may show a number of signs as the disease slowly damages their brain. Some of these are very hard to detect.

Signs may include:

- » unusual behaviour
- » lack of coordination
- » listlessness
- » trouble swallowing
- » drooling
- » increased thirst
- » paralysis
- » pneumonia
- » separation from the other animals in the herd
- » excessive urination
- » unusual thinness

Signs can last for weeks to months before the animal dies; however, some animals may never show any signs of the disease.

AOPFN'S 2ND ANNUAL ROUND DANCE

The Algonquins of Pikwakanagan First Nation invite proposals from qualified individuals or organizations to plan, coordinate, and execute a round dance event in our community.

The round dance is a traditional ceremony that brings people together to heal, honour, and celebrate life.

The event will be held in the winter of 2024, and will include singers, drummers, dancers, elders, youth, and guests from other First Nations communities.

Scope:

- Develop a project plan including a detailed budget, work plan and timeline for the event to avoid conflicts with other community and other First Nation events
- Secure a suitable venue and equipment for the event
- Recruit and contracting singers, drummers, MCs, and other performers for the event
- Solicit sponsors and partners
- Coordinate with elders, youth, and cultural advisors for the event
- Arrange catering, transportation, accommodation, and honoraria for the event
- Market and promote the event to the public and the media
- Manage registration, attendance, and feedback for the event
- Evaluate and report on the outcomes and impacts of the event

Objectives

- To promote and preserve the Algonquin culture and language
- To foster intergenerational and intercultural connections and understanding
- To provide a space for healing and reconciliation
- To showcase the talents and achievements of our community members
- Nation-building

Elements of Proposal

- A cover letter that summarizes the proponent's qualifications, experience, and interest in the project
- A work plan that outlines the proposed activities, deliverables, and milestones for the project
- A budget that estimates the costs and revenues for the project
- A list of references that can attest to the proponent's past performance and quality of work

Evaluation Criteria

- Alignment with the objectives and scope of the project
- Quality and feasibility of the work plan and budget
- Experience and expertise of the proponent and the team
- Creativity and innovation of the proposal
- References and feedback from previous clients
- The successful proponent will be notified by December 1, 2023, and will be expected to sign a contract and begin work by December 15, 2023.

The feast will be held at the Makwa Community Centre, and will include dinner, dessert, and drinks for up to 300 guests.

OBJECTIVES

- To provide delicious, nutritious, and culturally appropriate food and beverages for the feast
- To minimize waste and environmental impact by using reusable, recyclable, or compostable packaging and utensils
- To adhere to the health and safety standards and regulations for food preparation, handling, and delivery

SCOPE

- Designing a menu that features traditional and seasonal foods, such as wild game, fish, corn, squash, beans, berries, maple syrup, bannock, etc.
- Preparing, cooking, and serving the food and beverages for the feast
- Providing the necessary equipment, staff, and transportation for the catering services
- Cleaning up and disposing of the leftovers and waste after the feast

TENDER CONTENTS

- A Profile of the bidder and their qualifications, experience, and interest in the project
- A proposed menu that describes the food and beverage items
- A detailed budget
- A list of references that can attest to the bidder's past performance and quality of work
- A sample or proof of previous work that demonstrates the bidder's ability to provide similar catering services

EVALUATION CRITERIA

- Alignment with the objectives and scope of the project
- Quality and diversity of the menu and the food and beverages
- Reasonableness and competitiveness of the budget and the pricing
- Experience and expertise of the bidder and the team
- References and feedback from previous clients

SUBMISSION

Mail, hand deliver, or email to:

Alanna Hein; Manager, Political Operations
1657A Mishomis Inamo, Pikwakanagan ON, K0J1X0
chiefcouncil@pikwakanagan.ca

The successful bidder will be notified by November 30, 2023, and will be expected to sign a contract and begin work by December 1, 2023. The solstice feast is scheduled for December 21, 2023, from 6:00 pm to 10:00 pm

2. Project Development:

- Set up regular meetings with FN CEC and Energy Team members
- Work in tandem with our technical team to assess and identify potential solar site locations within the communities.
- Collect site-specific data including electrical and structural details.
- Coordinate access to bills for Electricity and Heat (e.g. Propane/Oil/Diesel)
- Coordinate with Finance department to receive grants and pay invoices
- Facilitate the understanding of our solar projects within the communities and address any queries or concerns.

3. Networking:

- Act as the primary liaison between JAZZ Solar Solutions Inc. and First Nations.
- Recruit Energy Teams at First Nations
- Recruit local and indigenous contractors (electricians, installers)
- Establish relationships and Make presentations to with Chiefs & Councils and Administration
- Collaborate with other indigenous organizations and government bodies related to renewable energy projects.
- Attend Cultural Events
- Attend conferences, seminars, and workshops on renewable energy specific to indigenous communities.

4. Reporting and Feedback:

- Provide regular updates to the senior management team on the progress of networking and project development.
- Gather feedback from communities on potential improvements, suggestions, or concerns regarding the projects.

5. Continuous Learning:

- Stay updated on the latest trends, advancements, and best practices in the renewable energy sector.
- Participate in training and workshops as necessary.

Qualifications

- Must be of indigenous descent.
- Resourceful with good problem-solving skills.
- Ability to travel extensively and frequently.
- Demonstrated experience or familiarity with First Nations communities in Ontario.
- Strong interpersonal and communication skills.
- Motivated, independent, and self-driven with a passion for networking.
- Basic understanding of solar energy systems, particularly related to electrical and structural components (training will be provided).
- Valid driver's license.

Benefits:

- Competitive starting salary (Full-Time).
- High performers will receive profit-sharing bonus and ownership.
- Opportunity to make a significant impact in the field of renewable energy within indigenous communities.
- Comprehensive health benefits (full-time).
- Professional development and training opportunities.
- Supportive and inclusive work environment.

To apply, please send your resume, a cover letter detailing your experience with First Nations communities, and any relevant certifications to jon@jazzsolar.com.

We thank all applicants for their interest in JAZZ Solar Solutions, however only those selected for an interview will be contacted.
