Kwey Algonquin of Pikwakanagan Membership,

With the recent announcement about the second-generation cut-off and the one-parent rule, we want to share with the community that, while this is an important step forward, it is still only the beginning. First Nations across Turtle Island (Canada) are being consulted, and the Collaborative process is still in its first phase. There is much more work ahead, and the community's voice will continue to be an important part of the journey.

The announcement means that Bill S-2 passed in the Senate and now goes to the House of Commons. If the House wishes to make any amendments, the bill will go back to the Senate, where it will need to be reread and voted on again. Once the Senate and the House agree on the amendments, then the bill will become legislation.

The Lands, Estates and Membership department is actively engaged in the collaborative process with Indigenous Services Canada. Our team participates in consultations, develops community-led solutions, and ensures that members are informed and represented throughout each phase of the registration and membership reform process. We are committed to keeping the community updated and advocating for your interests as this important work continues.

Please continue to follow the newsletter for ongoing updates. We look forward to sharing more information and staying connected as the collaborative process continues.

Should you require additional information, you can contact me via email at mgr.lem@pikwakanagan.ca

CHIEF & COUNCIL UPDATE

December 5, 2025

This is an important time for First Nations across Canada to come together and do the work necessary to protect our First Nations and our citizens, and Pikwakanagan was there. This week, Chief Greg Sarazin, some members of council and our admin staff took part in the Assembly of First Nations (AFN) Special Chiefs Assembly 2025 in Ottawa. The AFN who represents 630 First Nations across Canada, hosts twice yearly Chiefs meetings to plan, set priorities, and create necessary policies.

More than 40 resolutions were passed by the Chiefs. Of the main topics discussed over the three days included details on Bill S-2 and the second-generation cut-off issue. There, the Minister of Indigenous Services Canada, Mandy Gull-Masty, along with the Minister of Crown-Indigenous Relations and Northern Affairs, Rebecca Atty and the Finance Minister Francois-Phillippe Champagne were on hand to provide updates and answer Chief's questions. Other topics included Canada's new Major Projects legislation, the Long-Term Reform of First Nations Child and Family Services and Jordan's Principle, and the federal budget 2025.

The most attended session was when Prime Minister Mark Carney addressed the assembly. He opened his remarks by saying "We're on the unceded and un-surrendered territory of the Anishinabeg Algonquin Nation." He also announced that the federal government will introduce water legislation in the spring of 2026. Another focal point was backlash about the proposed oil pipeline project in Alberta. There was an overwhelming unity with the Chiefs that major projects need consultation with, and consent of affected First Nations. Stating it's the law and it's not an option.

Chief Sarazin began each day at 7 am, meeting with the Chiefs of Ontario to set strategy and priorities and he was appointed by the Ontario Region Chiefs to speak on their behalf before the assembly, about the major projects' topic directly to the Prime Minister, however time ran out during that session. Chief Sarazin did address the Ontario Region Chiefs' concerns directly to Ministers Francois-Phillippe Champagne, Rebecca Atty, and Mandy Gull-Masty in the public session of the assembly.

Pikwakanagan also took the opportunity to have other important meetings this week. Chief Sarazin and council met with Sagkeeng First Nation to discuss mutual interests between our First Nations and with potential business partner, Alto HFR. We also met with Bruce McIvor, Pikwakanagan's recently appointed Treaty Negotiation Lawyer.

Supporting First Nations Children

Meet Your Jordan's Principle Navigator

Hello, my name is Pamela Scheel, and I am the Jordan's Principle Navigator for the Algonquins of Pikwakanagan First Nation, currently working within Health Services. Since 2024, I have been dedicated to supporting children and families in the community by helping them access essential services and funding through Jordan's Principle.

How I Can Help

- ✓ Assist with individual and family requests
- ✓ Follow up on existing applications
- ✓ Coordinate supports and services
- ✓ Help with the appeals process

What Is Jordan's Principle?

Jordan's Principle ensures First Nations children 0-17 can access public services when they need them. Requests must be linked to a health, education, or social need and are reviewed on a case-by-case basis.

Examples of Possible Supports

- 🏥 Health Supports: Medical supplies, dental, and vision care
- 📖 Education Supports: Psychological assessments, tutoring, assistive technology
- 🏠 Social Supports: Cultural activities, daily living needs (clothing, food, hygiene)
- 💚 Mental Health Supports: Counseling, respite support, behavioral guidance
- 🧸 Specialized Equipment & Sensory Items: Weighted blankets, noise-cancelling headphones
- 🧑‍🎓 Therapy Supports: Occupational, physical, speech therapy

Tick Surveillance Program in Pikwakanagan

AOP health services has been participating in a tick surveillance program for a number of years with Trudy K. Stanfield, M.Sc., Regional Zoonotics Manager, First Nations and Inuit Health Branch Indigenous Services Canada/Government of Canada.

All members are encouraged to submit any ticks that they find to the Community Health Representative. Once they are submitted, they are sent away for identification and testing. This surveillance allows us to investigate what the local risk factors are for tick borne illnesses in Pikwakanagan.

A tick was submitted by a community member last week, from Pikwakanagan and we were just notified that it was a Black legged tick (commonly referred to as a Deer tick) and that the tick tested positive for the bacteria that causes Lyme disease in humans. The submitted tick had latched on as a result of walking through thick brush and was attached for less than a 24 hr period so no treatment or follow-up was required. Typically, antibiotics are required if the tick has been attached for more than a 24 hr, period.

This type of surveillance is informative, however if anyone has a tick attached to them and/or symptoms of Lyme disease they should always seek medical attention. If you have been bitten by a tick you should bring it to the attention of your doctor, health care provider or your pharmacist if treatment is required.

Frequently Asked Questions

What to do after a tick bite? - If you have been bitten by a blacklegged tick, watch for early signs and symptoms of Lyme disease. Remove the tick by its head, do not squeeze the body and submit the tick to the CHR (see <https://www.canada.ca/en/public-health/services/diseases/lyme-disease/symptoms-lyme-disease.html>)

Should I be worried about my pets and ticks? - Blacklegged ticks also pose a risk to dogs, cats and horses. Dogs and horses are susceptible to Lyme disease, although many do not show any symptoms. It is recommended to tell your veterinarian that your pet has been bitten by a blacklegged tick, and to discuss options for tick bite prevention.

Where and when can you be exposed? - Blacklegged ticks live mainly in grassy, bushy, or wooded areas and they feed on a wide variety of birds and mammals, including humans, pets and domestic animals. This species is most active from spring through fall, but ticks can be found in every month of the year whenever temperatures are above freezing.

How can I best protect myself and my family? - If you are spending time outdoors in an area where Blacklegged ticks live, it's a good idea to apply an approved insect repellent and to tuck your pants into your socks and wear light coloured clothing. This helps prevent the ticks from crawling under your pants and the light-coloured clothing makes it easier to spot a tick crawling on you. Make "tick" checks a habit after spending time outdoors, don't forget your pets.

WATER TREATMENT PLANT OPERATOR

Location: ALFDC Training Centre - Tyendinaga Mohawk Territory

7 WEEK CERTIFICATE PROGRAM

Aboriginal Labour Force Development Circle are seeking interested INDIGENOUS participants for this 7 week job readiness program & encourages Indigenous youth and women to apply.

This program addresses the critical training gaps in First Nation communities with limited access to clean drinking water by supporting the training of participants to support proper operation, maintenance, and oversight of water treatment plants located on-reserve.

An Operator-in-Training (OIT) is an entry-level certification that allows individuals to begin working in a water treatment system while gaining the hands-on experience required to advance in the field. With an OIT license, participants can work under supervision and accumulate the one year of practical experience necessary to qualify for the Class 1 Water Treatment Operator certification.

This program is ideal for Indigenous individuals currently working at water treatment plants or those interested in pursuing a career in water treatment.

Funded by Indigenous Services Canada, ALFDC will train up to 12 participants through the Water Treatment Operator-in-Training (OIT) Program.

TRAINING SCHEDULE

- ♦ Week 1 - Introduction to Water Treatment and Plant Operations
- ♦ Week 2 - Academic Refreshers
- ♦ Week 3 & 4 - Entry Level Course for Operators
- ♦ Week 5 & 6- Operator Training, OIT Prep and Exam
- ♦ Week 7 - Health and Safety Training

A training allowance will be provided to students who consistently attend class. Travel accommodations will be provided for those in need of support.

WHO SHOULD APPLY

Any FN member can apply. Priority will be given to those from Alderville FN, Hiawatha FN, Curve Lake FN, Wahta FN, Algonquins of Pikwakanagan FN, Shawanaga FN, Temagami FN, Batchewana FN, Chippewas of Nawash FN, Chippewas of Saugeen FN, Mississaugas of the Credit FN, and Mohawks of the Bay of Quinte FN.
